ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Technical Sergeant Noah T. Wright distinguished himself by meritorious service as Airman Leadership School Instructor, 42d Force Support Squadron, 42d Mission Support Group, 42d Air Base Wing, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama. During this period, Sergeant Wright delivered 4,032 hours of curriculum, resulting in 315 graduates being awarded 2,844 Community College of the Air Force credits. Additionally, his ability to lead was evident as the Airman Leadership School cadre was chosen by the Barnes Center to beta test the new $10 million dollar professional military education program, the largest overhaul in 20 years. Sergeant Wright's attention to detail was vital in the identification and correction of curriculum discrepancies which enhanced the program. Furthermore, this overhaul directly led to the development of 16,000 Senior Airman Air Force wide and resulted in the Airman Leadership School receiving a Squadron Team Award for the Second Quarter of 2018. Sergeant Wright's technical expertise enabled him to research and implement Canvas, a new learning management system that was later bench-marked by the Barnes Center and used by 67 schoolhouses. Finally, Sergeant Wright trained 40 Airmen on a $600,000 education system for Air University and received the Wing level Lieutenant General Harold Grant award. The distinctive accomplishments of Sergeant Wright while serving his country reflect credit upon himself and the United
